Uruguay, situated on the southeastern coast of South America, is not only renowned for its stable economic and political climate but also for its commitment to sustainable practices. The country has made significant strides in renewable energy, with wind and solar power contributing substantially to its energy mix. This commitment aligns with the global trend towards environmental responsibility, offering U.S. companies opportunities to engage in eco-friendly initiatives and technologies.

Furthermore, Uruguay is a member of Mercosur, a regional trade bloc that includes Argentina, Brazil, Paraguay, and Uruguay itself. This membership enhances Uruguay's market access and trade opportunities within the region. U.S. businesses can leverage Uruguay as a gateway to the broader Mercosur market, capitalizing on the country's established trade relationships and strategic positioning.

In the realm of technology, Uruguay has emerged as a hub for software development and information technology services. Montevideo, the capital city, hosts a burgeoning tech sector, making it an appealing destination for U.S. tech companies looking to tap into a skilled workforce and collaborative innovation environment.

Moreover, the government of Uruguay has actively pursued policies to foster innovation and entrepreneurship. Initiatives like tax incentives for research and development activities and support for startup ecosystems contribute to a business-friendly environment.

The financial sector in Uruguay is characterized by stability and sophistication, with a well-regulated banking system. This financial stability adds another layer of security for U.S. companies considering investments or establishing operations in the country.

In conclusion, Uruguay's appeal to U.S. businesses extends beyond its agricultural prowess. The country's commitment to sustainability, membership in regional trade blocs, emergence as a technology hub, and supportive policies for innovation make it a multifaceted destination for American companies seeking diverse opportunities in South America. As global dynamics continue to evolve, Uruguay stands as a resilient and adaptable player in the international business arena.

GTTC INDIA MONGOLIA FORUM

Amidst the economic challenges of 2022, Mongolia's focus on addressing external debt and stabilizing its economy provides an opportunity for strategic trade partnerships. The nation's resilience and commitment to economic recovery create a potential avenue for international businesses to engage in mutually beneficial trade ventures.

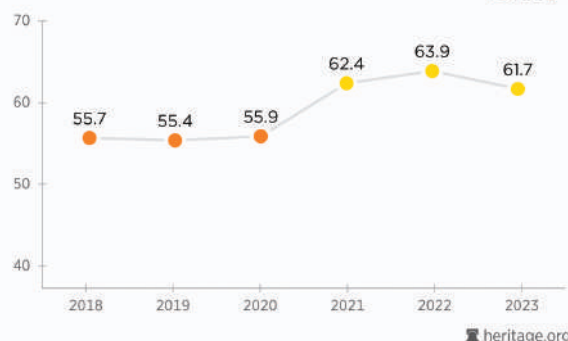

Mongolia's reliance on imports, particularly from China, underscores the importance of diversifying its trade partnerships. International companies can explore avenues to collaborate with Mongolian counterparts, providing essential goods and services that contribute to the nation's economic revitalization. The need for diverse and reliable trade partners becomes crucial as Mongolia seeks to mitigate risks associated with dependence on specific regions.

In addition, the aftermath of the Ukraine war and sanctions on Russia necessitate a reevaluation of Mongolia's trade strategies. U.S. and European businesses, in particular, can explore opportunities to fill gaps left by geopolitical shifts, offering products and services that align with Mongolia's evolving economic landscape. Strategic partnerships can play a pivotal role in enhancing Mongolia's economic resilience by providing alternative sources of goods and services.

Mongolia's pursuit of economic stability opens avenues for foreign investors to engage in projects that contribute to the nation's growth. Infrastructure development, renewable energy initiatives, and technology collaborations are potential areas where

The nation's commitment to strategic economic reforms provides a conducive environment for foreign businesses to bring innovative solutions and expertise. By aligning with Mongolia's reform agenda, international companies can contribute to the nation's efforts to enhance efficiency, transparency, and competitiveness in key sectors.

In conclusion, while Mongolia faces economic challenges, the current scenario presents an opportune moment for international businesses to engage in trade collaborations. Diversifying trade partnerships, contributing to infrastructure development, and leveraging Mongolia's abundant natural resources are avenues through which foreign companies can not only support Mongolia's economic recovery but also find mutually beneficial opportunities in a nation poised for transformation. As Mongolia navigates the complexities of its economic landscape, strategic and collaborative approaches will be essential for sustained recovery and growth.

GTTC INDIA MAURITIUS FORUM

Mauritius, the idyllic island nation in the Indian Ocean, not only boasts a resilient economy but also has significant trade prospects with India, further enhancing its economic resilience and global standing. Despite facing a 15% GDP contraction in 2020 due to the COVID-19 pandemic, Mauritius demonstrated remarkable recovery, with GDP reaching $11.1 billion in 2021, albeit still below pre-pandemic levels. Projections indicate a robust rebound, with the World Bank forecasting GDP growth of 5.8% in 2022 and an impressive 6% in 2023.

The business-friendly environment in Mauritius, highlighted by its high ranking in the 2022 Index of Economic Freedom and the Global Innovation Index Report, positions the nation as an attractive destination for international partnerships. Mauritius has strategically diversified its major economic sectors, including textiles, tourism, financial services, ICT, seafood processing, real estate, energy, and education. Notably, the government places a strong emphasis on the ocean economy, encouraging investments in aquaculture, maritime services, marine biotechnology, and renewable energy, with a target of achieving 60% renewable electricity by 2030.

Mauritius-U.S. trade, valued at $334 million, underscores the importance of bilateral economic relations. Mauritius exports textiles, jewelry, and seafood to the U.S., while importing items like butane, vaccines, and medical instruments. The nation's diverse trade relationships extend beyond the U.S., with Mauritius benefiting from preferential trade agreements with various regions, including SADC, COMESA, IOC, EU, AGOA, GSP, Turkey, Pakistan, and agreements with China and India.

Speaking of India, the trade prospects between Mauritius and India hold immense promise. The historical and cultural ties between the two nations, coupled with Mauritius' strategic location, make it a significant partner for India. Trade relations between India and Mauritius have flourished, driven by mutual interests and shared economic goals. Key sectors of collaboration include information technology, pharmaceuticals, renewable energy, and education. India is a vital trading partner for Mauritius, contributing to the nation's economic diversification and growth.

In summary, Mauritius stands as a beacon of economic resilience with diversified sectors, favorable trade agreements, and a commitment to sustainability and innovation. The burgeoning trade prospects with India further amplify Mauritius' position as a strategic player in the global economic landscape. As the nation continues its trajectory of recovery and growth, collaborative efforts with international partners, including India, are poised to contribute significantly to Mauritius' economic success.

GTTC INDIA FIJI FORUM

In 2021, Fiji showcased its global economic presence, ranking 140th in goods exports at $815 million USD and 127th in commercial services exports, totaling $170 million USD. The nation's primary export sectors encompassed agricultural products, manufactures, and fuels/mining products. A significant 71.74% of Fiji's GDP in 2020 resulted from trade with key partners, namely the United States, Australia, and New Zealand, highlighting the nation's dependence on these markets.

Fiji's import dynamics in 2021 positioned it as the 140th largest importer of goods ($2,116 million USD) and 126th in commercial services ($499 million USD). Major imports included manufactures, agricultural products, and fuels/mining products, with Singapore, Australia, and New Zealand emerging as pivotal trade partners.

Fiji's active participation in five Regional Trade Agreements, including the EU-Pacific States pact, underscores its integral role in global trade dynamics. The nation's commitment to these agreements reflects its eagerness to engage collaboratively in the international marketplace, contributing to the overall economic vibrancy of the region.

Diving into Fiji's main industries, the nation boasts a diverse economic landscape. Tourism, sugar, and agriculture are traditionally significant sectors, with a growing emphasis on expanding industries like information technology, textiles, and fisheries. As Fiji continues to evolve, these sectors present considerable potential for development, offering opportunities for foreign investors and trade partners.

In terms of trade prospects with India, there exists substantial untapped potential. The historical ties between India and Fiji, coupled with India's growing global influence, create a foundation for robust economic collaboration. Fiji's diversification efforts align with India's strengths in information technology, pharmaceuticals, and renewable energy, presenting avenues for mutually beneficial partnerships. Exploring opportunities for collaboration in these sectors could significantly enhance Fiji's economic resilience and contribute to India's trade expansion in the Pacific region.

In conclusion, Fiji's position in global trade is underscored by its active participation in regional agreements and its role as both an exporter and importer. With a diversified economic landscape and untapped potential in key sectors, Fiji stands poised for growth. Exploring trade prospects with India adds another dimension to Fiji's economic outlook, presenting opportunities for bilateral collaboration and shared prosperity. As the nation continues its journey in the global marketplace, strategic partnerships and economic diversification will play pivotal roles in shaping Fiji's economic future.

GTTC INDIA SURINAME FORUM

In Suriname, where foreign trade constitutes a significant 102% of its GDP, recent diplomatic overtures have the potential to reshape its trade landscape. The country's heavy reliance on the extractive sector, contributing over three-quarters of its exports, exposes it to global commodity price fluctuations. Gold takes the lead in exports at 78.4%, followed by wood (5%), refined petroleum (3.8%), frozen fish (1.9%), and rolled tobacco (1.7%). On the import side, goods like motor vehicles (18.2%), refined petroleum (7.7%), rolled tobacco (1.4%), iron products (1.4%), and plastic pipes (1.3%) dominate.

In 2021, Suriname celebrated a trade surplus of USD 865 million, with exports reaching USD 1.5 billion and imports standing at USD 1.3 billion. Key trade partners for Suriname include Switzerland, the United Arab Emirates, the United States, the Netherlands, China, Belgium, Trinidad and Tobago, and Japan. Despite a somewhat outdated and time-consuming trade licensing system, the country maintains moderate customs duties at 10.8%. Suriname is actively engaged in international trade, being a member of the WTO, CARICOM, and CARIFORUM, with existing trade agreements with Brazil, Venezuela, and Costa Rica.

Looking ahead, Suriname's trade forecast, as predicted by the IMF, anticipates a 2.7% increase in exports and a 0.7% rise in imports in 2023. Despite progress in the banana industry, EU import tax reforms pose challenges for Suriname, particularly when compared to competitors like Ecuador and Colombia. The nation is actively addressing these challenges through initiatives such as new investment codes and intellectual property protection legislation. However, persistent obstacles such as state interference in the economy and technical limitations remain.

Recent diplomatic developments hold promise for Suriname's trade landscape, particularly with the visit of India's President to the country. The visit signals a potential for strengthened ties and increased economic collaboration between Suriname and India. Suriname's push for trade development aligns with India's global trade ambitions, creating opportunities for bilateral partnerships, investment, and diversified trade relations. As Suriname navigates the complexities of its economic landscape, enhanced engagement with India could provide avenues for growth, technological exchange, and mutual prosperity. In the evolving dynamics of international trade, Suriname's strategic moves toward trade development and collaboration, especially with emerging partners like India, position the nation for a more diversified and resilient economic future.

Vietnam's Tourism Revolution

From Quiet Enigma to Global Gem

In the annals of global tourism, Vietnam has scripted a remarkable narrative, transitioning from a quiet nation to a thriving gem among the world's most sought-after destinations. The transformation of this Southeast Asian country is intricately woven with the legacy of the late Anthony Bourdain, a celebrated chef whose love affair with Vietnam sparked an evolution that redefined its tourism landscape.

Approximately two decades ago, Vietnam lay largely undiscovered, tucked away from the gaze of international travelers. The advent of Bourdain's televised exploration in his show "A Cook's Tour" in 2002 shed light on the country's rich culinary tapestry and scenic splendor. His revelation acted as a catalyst, drawing inquisitive minds and adventurous souls eager to savor Vietnam's unique flavors and untamed beauty.

The initial influx of Western adventure tourists, driven by a hunger for offbeat experiences, paved the way for a burgeoning backpacking culture. Ho Chi Minh City and Hanoi, recognizing this burgeoning trend, fostered backpacker-friendly options, sparking a domino effect across smaller towns and cities. Improved air accessibility through new airports further opened up Vietnam's picturesque locales, beckoning travelers with promises of breathtaking landscapes and tantalizing cuisine.

As Vietnam's allure grew, a shift in tourist demographics emerged. The fascination observed among Western explorers soon captivated the Asian middle-class, fostering a wave of mass tourism. Destinations like Hue, Quang Binh, Sapa, Nha Trang, Mekong Delta, and Phu Quoc ascended to prominence, each offering distinct experiences appealing to diverse interests, from history enthusiasts to adventure seekers.

Amidst this surge in tourism, a new breed of travelers emerged - the Sustainable Tourists. Fueled by a quest for immersive cultural encounters, these travelers sought authentic local experiences, delving into community life and traditions. Their arrival reshaped the tourism landscape, fostering homestays and amplifying the significance of food tourism.

Vietnam's culinary scene, amplified through Bourdain's appreciation for pho and local delicacies, became a global sensation. Vietnamese cuisine, showcased across various media platforms, transformed staples like rice paper rolls, pho, and banh mi into international favorites. The vibrant street food culture, affordable and rich in variety, became an integral part of the country's charm, offering a delectable gateway to Vietnamese culture.

In a span of mere decades, Vietnam has blossomed from an underdog to a tourism powerhouse, captivating a diverse array of enthusiasts - photographers, food aficionados, history buffs, and cultural enthusiasts. Its allure, an amalgamation of scenic beauty, diverse experiences, and culinary delights, solidifies Vietnam's place among the world's premier tourist destinations. As it continues to captivate hearts and minds, Vietnam's status as an indispensable global hotspot remains unshakable.

ONLINE GAMING INDUSTRY GROWTH: INDIA IS NO EXCEPTION

The online gaming industry has seen a substantial rise globally, and India is no exception. Fueled by the digital gaming revolution in the early 2000s, the COVID-19 pandemic further propelled its growth as people sought entertainment while adhering to social distancing measures.

India's online gaming surge can be attributed to the accessibility of affordable internet, resulting in a rapid increase in users and gaming platforms. This expansion has birthed professional gamers, turning gaming into a career prospect.

The Indian gaming market is projected to grow from $2.8 billion in 2022 to $5 billion in 2025, with the number of gamers expected to hit 500 million by 2025. Notably, web developers play a pivotal role in the gaming world's development and operations, ensuring global accessibility.

Online gaming in India can be categorized as skill-based or chance-based. Skill-based gaming like fantasy sports, rummy, and poker have gained popularity. However, chance-based gaming involving real prize money is prohibited under Indian law.

Legal judgments have recognized fantasy sports as predominantly skill-based, distinguishing them from gambling. The government, through the Ministry of Home Affairs, issues guidelines for online gaming operators to ensure fairness, security, and compliance with state regulations.

States like Goa, Sikkim, Nagaland, and Meghalaya have formulated their gaming laws, regulating and licensing online gaming activities within their jurisdictions.

The gaming industry in India lacks specific regulations, but the government is actively taking steps to promote growth. The National Skill Development Corporation provides training for the gaming industry. Additionally, the Central Monitoring System monitors online gaming activities to ensure compliance.

Payment gateways like PayPal, Skrill, and Neteller facilitate secure transactions, contributing to the gaming experience. Despite being in its early stages, India's online gaming industry is rapidly growing, attracting a diverse gamer base. With increased internet access, India has the potential to emerge as a significant player in the global gaming landscape.

INDIA-UAE

A Legacy of Friendship and Robust ties

Trade between India and the UAE has flourished since centuries due to the favourable trade winds and sea route. These economic ties led to a strengthening of the cultural ties between the two countries and many of our linguistic jargon and cuisine became a part of the culture in both the countries. The Indian Rupee was used for a long time as a currency in trading and Dates and Rice were the main commodities to be traded.

Today the sizeable Indian diaspora in UAE forms a significant part of UAE's vibrant society and continues to be a valuable contributor to its economy. After the coming into force of CEPA, the bilateral trade between India and UAE has the potential to rise to USD 100 billion. The investment flows from UAE to India have risen significantly over the past few years with active participation of the private sector in driving big budget projects.

The vision and leadership of both countries has laid a solid foundation for bilateral cooperation between the two nations. With the coming of the India-Middle East-Europe Economic Corridor, the UAE becomes an increasingly important partner of India not only for sustained prosperity of both the regions but also to achieve progress in the region and beyond. India with a whopping 9 million strong diaspora in the Gulf region, has a major interest in trade and investment in the region.

During the Covid 19 pandemic the strong ties between India and UAE were further strengthened by close collaboration and joint efforts and no disruption in food, medicine, vaccine supply chains.

India and UAE are committed partners across a wide spectrum of fields including economic, trade, culture, people to people connect and both countries are on a firm footing for growing bilateral cooperation between the two nations.

The Republic of Mauritius

Star and Key of the Indian Ocean

Mauritius is referred internationally as the “Star and Key of the Indian Ocean”. “Star” for its strategic location on the network of air and sea routes between Asia, Europe and Africa and “Key” as an international financial hub of excellence that “unlocks” business opportunities and access to the African continent.

Mauritius has an enabling and appealing business environment in the Sub-Saharan African region. It is politically stable, fully secured and enforces a strong independent hybrid judiciary system based on the French Civil Code and British legal System. It has a strong public and private and collaborative institutions and a working democracy with a free press. Mauritius ranked among the 21 countries considered as “Full Democracy” by the Economist Intelligence Unit in 2022.

Comprehensive Economic Cooperation and Partnership Agreement (CECPA)

For Mauritius, India is one of its leading trade partners and major supplier of consumer goods. In February 2021, Mauritius and India signed the Comprehensive Economic Cooperation and Partnership Agreement (CECPA). The CECPA is the first trade agreement to be signed by India with a country in Africa. The Agreement covers Trade in Goods, Rules of Origin, Trade in Services, Technical Barriers to Trade (TBT), Sanitary and Phytosanitary (SPS) measures, Dispute Settlement, Movement of Natural Persons, Telecom, Financial Services, Customs Procedures and Cooperation in other Areas.

The regional dimension of the CECPA offers a framework for Indian investors and businesses to use Mauritius as a gateway to access countries with which Mauritius has concluded trade Agreements. Mauritius has ratified the African Continental Free Trade Area, (ACFTA) and also enjoys preferences on the US market through the African Growth and Opportunity Act.

Mauritius and India Bilateral Ties

This year Mauritius and India celebrated the 75th anniversary of the establishment of diplomatic relations. Both countries share a unique relationship, which is anchored in kinship, deep historical and cultural affinities as well as common values and interests. The ties have throughout the years culminated to a special and strategic partnership.

In view of the special relations between Mauritius and India, Mauritius has been invited by India, in its capacity as G20 Chair, to participate as a Guest Country in all the G20 meetings during India’s presidency. The invitation from India, apart from illustrating the excellent bilateral relations and enduring friendship between the two countries, provides a unique opportunity to further the national agenda of Mauritius in the realm of global governance and on issues of vital interests for the country.

Business incentives in Mauritius

Mauritius is constantly improving the business environment to facilitate the incorporation and establishment of foreign companies in Mauritius. Mauritius is ranked 13th out of 190 countries in the 2022 World Bank Ease of Doing Business ranking.

There is a wide range of business opportunities for investors in real estate, tourism, ICT/BPO, agriculture, freeport and financial services, which are established and growing sectors of activity. Post-Covid, the Government is embarking on a diversification strategy to usher a new era of development and accelerate the transition of Mauritius into an innovation driven economy.

Several incentives have been put in place to enable the development of pharmaceuticals, medical devices, biotechnology, cleantech and fintech as new pillars.

Mauritius offers an attractive package of incentives to investors like ease of registering a company, investment protection, risk mitigation, tax advantages, duty free import of equipment and machinery for industrial activities, no exchange control, preferential access to 75% of the global markets, permits to work and reside. For instance, for vaccine and pharmaceutical production, foreign companies engaged in the manufacture of pharmaceuticals and medical devices are eligible to a premium investor certificate with exemptions on registrations fees, land transfer taxes and tax credits on patents and associated costs. Corporate tax of 3% will be levied instead of the usual 15%.

Financial Centre of Mauritius

Moreover, anchored in the “the golden triangle” linking Middle East, Asia and Africa, Mauritius has forged a strong reputation as a financial centre of choice. Built on a robust ecosystem, coupled with an unparalleled well-regulated and transparent platform, the Mauritius IFC is a node for the international investing community, including Indian investors, for conducting their global and cross border business. The Mauritius IFC is strategically poised to play a key role in driving quality investments and promoting prosperity for and across Africa. The Mauritius platform offers a viable and attractive option to Indian companies in contributing to India’s ambition to become a global player in exports.

Tourism

Mauritius is mostly appreciated by tourists for its natural environment and man-made attractions, the multi-ethnic and cultural diversity of the population, the tropical climate, beaches and water sports. With the recent changes in tourism trends where visitors are more actively involved in cultural activities, Mauritius is working towards a more vibrant cultural tourism sector to rehabilitate the country’s cultural assets and support infrastructure.

In order to increase tourism inflow from India, the Mauritian Government introduced a visa-free regime for Indian tourists; where Indian tourists visiting Mauritius for a period up to 60 days do not require a visa.

The number of flights has also been increased between Mauritius and India. The direct flight Delhi-Mauritius resumed in May 2023. Furthermore, air Vistara started operations on the route Mumbai-Mauritius in March 2023 and direct flights from Chennai will be starting as from next year.

Mauritius is a vacationer’s paradise be it for a family, honeymoon, or leisure trip. Mauritius is also known for offering a safe and friendly environment to the visitors and it is among the safest destinations in Africa as the government maintains a safe environment for the visitors.

Rwanda offers huge investment opportunities in the energy sector

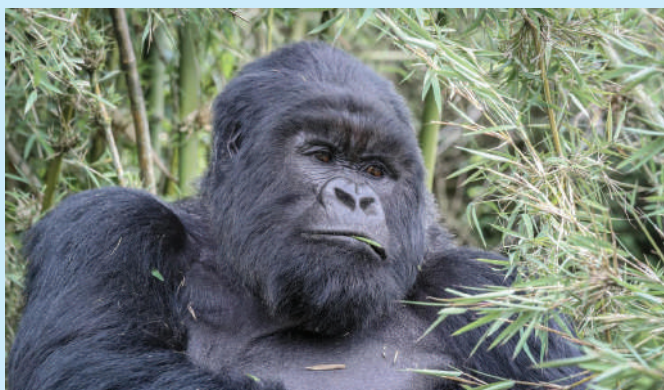

TOURISM SECTOR

Tourism in Rwanda offers visitors a unique and unforgettable experience, with opportunities to explore the country's natural beauty, cultural heritage, and wildlife. Main tourist attractions include:

1. Volcanoes National Park: home to the endangered Mountain Gorilla

Rwanda is one of only 3 countries in the world where critically endangered mountain gorillas live. Situated in Rwanda's far northwest, volcanoes national park, is home to the endangered mountain gorilla and a rich mosaic of montane ecosystems, which embrace evergreen and bamboo forests, open grassland, and swamp. Rwanda is among only three countries in the world where you can trek to see the majestic gorillas up close-a truly once in a lifetime

Silverback in Bamboo

2. Akagera National Park: Home to the Big Five

Akagera National Park located in Rwanda's northeastern region is named after the Akagera River that flows along its eastern boundary and feeds into a labyrinth of lakes. Founded in 1934, with 2,500sqkm, Akagera National Park is the largest protected wetland in central Africa and the last remaining refuge for savannah-adapted animals and plants in Rwanda. Akagera National Park is home to lions, leopards, elephants, servals, hyenas, jackals and giraffes, large herds of buffaloes, zebras, rhinoceros and several antelope species.

Giraffes in Akagera National Park.

3. Nyungwe National Park

Located in Rwanda's southwestern region, Nyungwe is acclaimed for its rich bio-diversity, endemic species and showcasing the only canopy walk in East Africa (reaching 70m above the forest floor and 200m in length). Nyungwe National Park holds the source of Africa's great rivers feeding the Nile River in the east and the Congo River in the west. A piece of paradise found its home inside the remarkable Nyungwe Forest. Visitors to the national park can explore the beautiful trails, trek chimpanzees, bike, bird watch and learn about the tea plantations and community cultural villages in the area.

4. Cultural Tourism of Rwanda

The Culture of Rwanda is varied. Unlike many countries, Rwanda has been a unified state since pre-colonial times, populated by the Banyarwanda people who share a single language and cultural heritage. You will find great cultural and historical sites in the Cultural Heritage Corridor in the Southern province that showcases Rwanda's rich history and unique culture.

5. Lake Kivu & The Congo Nile Trail

Lake Kivu in the West of Rwanda is surrounded by magnificent mountains and has deep emerald green waters covering a surface area of 2,700sqkm. It is Rwanda's largest lake and the sixth largest in Africa. Rubavu is a large town on the northern edge of Lake Kivu, an hour's drive from Volcanoes National Park and the perfect place to relax after gorilla trekking. Rubavu's waterfront is lined with fading old mansions, hotels and trendy bars on the lakeshore, ideal for sundowner cocktails. From Rubavu in the north, the Congo Nile Trail extends 227 kilometres of breathtaking landscapes to Rusizi in the south of Lake Kivu. For adventurous travellers, an exciting way to explore Rwanda is a kayaking tour on Lake Kivu or mountain biking/hiking one of the six off-the-beaten-path stages of the spectacular Congo Nile Trail.

6. Kigali

Rwanda's capital provides the perfect backdrop for a weekend getaway. As one of Africa's safest cities, Kigali is becoming a favourite for East African and international tourists. Kigali is developing rapidly, with new shopping malls, office buildings and a world-class convention centre built in the style of the King's Palace of olden days, which lights up the night sky atop one of the many hills.

7. Meetings, Incentives, Conferences and Exhibitions (MICE)

Rwanda was one of the first East African nations to establish a convention bureau. Established in 2014, Rwanda Convention Bureau's mission is to promote Rwanda as a premier destination that meets the needs of your future meetings. Rwanda has prioritised MICE tourism as one of the drivers of its economic growth.

Rwanda's popularity as a preferred MICE destination is also a product of its simplified visa process that allows nationals of every country in the world to get a visa on arrival. It is also resulting from the linkages enabled by the National Carrier RwandAir that connects many parts of the globe to Rwanda and Africa, the safety and cleanliness of the country, and the political stability and promising future of Rwanda.

Ulaanbaatar- Mongolia's Capital city

Located in central Mongolia at a height of 1310 metres (4300 feet) in the valley of the Tuul River, Ulaanbaatar is Mongolia's largest city. It is also the capital of the country and has a population of 1.3 million. It is the country's cultural, industrial, and financial heart, the centre of Mongolia's road network and connected by rail to the Trans-Siberian Railway in Russia and the Chinese railway system. The city was founded in 1639 as a nomadic Buddhist monastic centre. In 1778, it settled permanently at its present location, the junction of the Tuul and Selbe rivers. Before that, it changed location twenty-eight times, with each location being chosen ceremonially. In the twentieth century, Ulaanbaatar grew into a major manufacturing centre. Ulaanbaatar has been given numerous names in its history.

Before 1911, the official name was Ikh Khuree or simply Khuree. Upon independence in 1911, with both the secular government and the Bogd Khan's palace present, the city's name changed to Niislel Khuree. It is called Bogdiin Khuree in the folk song "Praise of Bogdiin Khuree". In western languages, the city at that time was most often referred to as Urga.

When the city became the capital of the new Mongolian People's Republic in 1924, its name was changed to Ulaanbaatar which literally translates to Red Hero. Lonely Planet says that, "If Mongolia's yin is its countryside, then Ulaanbaatar conforms nicely to its yang. An enormous city of pulsating commerce, wild traffic, sinful nightlife and bohemian counterculture, the Mongolian capital elicits as much shock as it does excitement.

The contrasts within the city can be exasperating too; Armani-suited businessmen rub shoulders with mohawked punks and del-clad nomads fresh off the steppes. One minute you're dodging the path of a Hummer H2 and the next you're mystified by groaning Buddhist monks at Gandan Khiid. It's a wild place that bursts into life after slumbering through a long winter. This chaotic capital is not the easiest city to navigate, but with a little patience, travelers can take care of all their logistical needs, watch traditional theatre, sample international cuisine and party till three in the morning. This ever-changing city may be the biggest surprise of your Mongolian adventure".

Attracting foreign investment: 16 developments projects scheduled for 2023

By implementing the "New Recovery Policy", Mongolia plans to execute strategically important mega-projects to drive economic growth and leverage investment and financial resources. Within the framework of the "New Recovery Policy", six sets of challenges hindering Mongolia's development will be addressed by fostering active partnerships between the public and private sectors and investors.

The Ministry of Economy and Development reports that out of the 94 mega projects, seven have been completed, 20 are in progress, and 16 are slated for implementation in 2023.

In our country, 51 projects with budgets under 1 billion USD hold significant potential to attract investment due to their impact on society, the economy, and the state budget. Among these projects, 25 have completed their technical and economic feasibility studies, while three are nearing completion. However, the financing for 22 projects remains unspecified, while the funding resources for the remaining 29 projects have been identified to be opening opportunities for investment.

The Government's action plan includes the commercialization of vital mineral resources and the construction of a copper smelter plant.

For instance, the mega project to build the Oyu Tolgoi copper smelter plant is planned within the framework of the "Industrial Revival" policy. The plant is one of the most significant projects we've been discussing for years. During the opening ceremony of the Oyu Tolgoi underground mine production on March 23, Minister of Economy and Development Ch. Khurelbaatar and Chief Executive of Rio Tinto Copper B.Bold signed a memorandum of understanding on copper processing and the final stage of production.

The successful implementation of mega projects yields numerous positive outcomes, including the generation of stable employment opportunities, reduced dependence on imported raw materials for domestic production, lower production cost, enhanced productivity and competitiveness, adoption of innovative technologies fostering a service-oriented culture, and increased tax revenue.

Additionally, there is a plan to establish an industrial and technology park at Erdenet Mining Corporation. For many years, scientists and experts have consistently emphasized the vast potential of copper-molybdenum reserves in the Erdenet and Tsagaan Suvarga mines, as well as the copper and gold deposits in Oyu Tolgoi. These resources can be utilized not only for processing and exporting copper ore and concentrate but also for the establishment of national copper smelter and refinery.

Furthermore, the Government has made the decision to implement the Mongolian Steel Complex-1 Project in collaboration with Darkhan Mettallurgical Plant JSC. This initiative aims to produce final steel products using domestic iron ore and meet over 50% of the local demand.

Studies and estimates suggest that it is most efficient for Mongolia to process its lignite and produce natural gas. Therefore, state-owned Erdenes Methane LLC was established and started the search and exploration of coalbed methane gas around the deposits in Tavan Tolgoi in 2017.

There are many other mega projects in Mongolia that hold the potential for attracting foreign and domestic investments while playing a pivotal role in economic growth and social development.

Mining sector waiting for investment

Mining and transportation sectors are expected to grow by approximately 15 percent by the end of 2023.

The mining sector plays a pivotal role in Mongolia's economy, accounting for 25 percent of GDP, 90 percent of export revenue, and over 30 percent of budget revenue. Natural resources are backbone of Mongolia's economic growth, with mining products contributing significantly to the local currency circulation and export market. One out of every 4 MNT in circulation and nine out of 10 exported goods and products are derived from natural resources.

Mongolia possesses abundant mineral resources and boasts the world's fourth largest copper mine. Its strategic location near China, the largest consumer market, and a skilled, educated workplace further enhance its mining potential. The sector currently employs 5 percent of the workforce and attracts over 70 percent of foreign investment. The International Monetary Fund recognizes Mongolia as one of the 29 resource-rich developing countries.

The Mongolian government is actively pursuing policies to foster mining industry development, increase exploration and production, and promote value-added product manufacturing. The "New Recovery Policy" focuses on creating an enabling legal environment to attract foreign investment, developing infrastructure, expanding export ports, and strengthening capacity. Initiatives such as streamlining customs procedures, upgrading concentrate analysis systems, improving mining efficiency, and transitioning raw material sales to transparent market systems are being implemented. Modernization efforts at border ports are expected to boost coal exports to 45 million tons by the first quarter of 2023, with total exports reaching $12.8 billion.

GOVERNMENT OF MAHARASHTRA

“ I’m delighted to be associated with the Global Trade and Technology Council of India. The launch of the Global Trade and Technology Council (India) is taking place in Maharashtra Raj Bhavan. Leaving Britain behind, India has become the fifth largest economy in the world. This global situation is more favorable for trade and economy. India will definitely become the third largest economy, leaving behind Japan and Germany. I am happy to know that India has a stable trade council which is working closely with more than 100 foreign embassies. I understand they act as an arbitrator who resolves disputes between Indian exporters and importers and their foreign counterparts. There are consulates of about 80 countries in Maharashtra. The Maharashtra Chapter of GTTCI aims to invite global industry, investment and business opportunities to Maharashtra. It is great to know that your aim is to provide a global platform to connect Maharashtra's growing youth industries, startups and global opportunities for business. As the Governor of Maharashtra, I often welcome heads of state and government of various countries to Raj Bhawan. I also meet ambassadors, consuls general and parliamentarians of different countries. India's global image has changed in the last 10 years. I would appeal to you (GTTCI) to work together with the Government of Maharashtra and assist them in their efforts to make Maharashtra a $1 trillion economy. I wish the Council a good start in Maharashtra and wish it success in its future endeavours. ”
